Just posting this in its own thread so it can be more easily linked.

Thanks to xplosv and jstout?

How to have the blue stat screen come up at the end of quarters.

SET(0x22109, 0x4E) end of 1st quarter

SET(0x22113, 0x4E) end of 2nd quarter

SET(0x2213D, 0x4E) end of 3rd quarter

if you take a save state at these quarterly blue screens, does it contain all the same information as the final blue screen so that one could upload a state into one of our online stat collectors?

Most of the data isn't coming from the "blue screen" itself. The save state parsers (or, at least the one I maintain at <http://www.tecmobowltools.com/API/ParseSaveState>) are generally looking at stuff that is always available.

Exactly... I'm just not sure if there is anything in normal ram that is being used that might be different. You can pull from sram at any point in the game.

good points. i guess my question was more to the point that bruddog addressed in that last post about the save state at the blue screen at the end of the 1st/2nd/3rd qtr being essentially identical to the one at the end of the game.
