I found this litte tidbit in the TSBTool thread:

GRG said:

malferds said:

Jlstout123: There is a note on my excel sheet. x27526 to x27541 in hex where each team is a number. 00 = Little more rushing, 01 = Heavy Rushing, 02 = little more passing, and 03 = Heavy Passing.

Jlstout123: If you remember, CLE's QB has great passing stats on the original no matter how you change his passing numbers and The Raiders and KC get like 100 more rushes than everyone else. That is the reason.

malferds: omg

malferds: so theres no way to change it malferds: in a rom?

Jlstout123: Changing the numbers where I said

malferds: in hex?

malferds: i cant even find a hex bite....

malferds: so ill have to tell bad al and hopefully he puts in in his TSB tool

Jlstout123: lol, nobody has written a program that has it. Else I'm the only one the knows about it

malferds: huh

Jlstout123: Just meant it is possible that I'm the only one who knows where these numbers if someone else verifies this or whatever maybe you could place it after the team offense and defense sim numbers after a , =0x4f, 01

The run/pass ratio

This is HUGE

So is it possible to edit the run/pass ratio in the rom using a hex editor? And if so...how does one actually go about it? Can this be explained in layman's terms?

Thanks to Jstout.

At offset 27526 there is a 2 digit number for each team.

The teams are in order of AFC east, central, west. Then NFC east, central, west. BUF is the first team and ATL is the last team.

00 means rush first, pass second (think Bills)

01 means rush heavy (think Raiders)

02 means pass first, rush second (think Dolphins)

03 means pass heavy (think Oilers)

This can be done in TSBTool 1.2.

Just specify The team sim data like:

TEAM = 49ers SimData=0xea2

Where the trailing 2 would indicate 'little more passing'.

The order of teams is the same as the "team data" screen.

It has both a command line interface and a graphical user interface.

To use the GUI, simply double click it, click on 'Load TSB Rom', then click view contents to see what's inside the ROM.

To apply the contents of the text box, click 'Apply to Rom' and choose a file name.

So it's as simple as editing the last digit in the sim code in the TSB tool? WOW...this is awesome guys. Will that affect just the sim or will it affect Man vs COM play too?

I'll see what I can do, I've got it loading up now but the player names are way whacky at the moment. From the appearance of it, I think it is salvagable but it will take some time to fix.

What happened?

That ROM is way toasted. TSBM, TSBTool and my emulators all choke on it.

All the player name pointers are messed up.

You didn't have a backup?

SBlueman, this is the best I could come up with. Not sure if this is exactly your previous file or not but should at least be close.

Worked for me, thanks jstout! I am just trying to get last year's rosters into the CFL rom. Not really working on the sim code or player attributes just yet. I was experimenting with the run/pass ratio with the TSBTool and must have misunderstood the directions. Seems to have the "3" setting on the teams now for more passing though.

I just tried TSBTool out on Matt Dixon's CFL ROM, it read the data fine but it messed up all the name pointers when I applied the data to the ROM.

TSBTool choked on the ' (single quote) character.

The Following Lines caused TSBTool to Mess up the ROM:

Under TEAM=broncos

LCB, da'shann AUSTIN, Face=0x80, #24, 25, 31, 44, 44, 50, 31 ,[8, 74]

K, duncan O'MAHONY, Face=0x0, #7, 56, 81, 81, 31, 69, 31 ,[10]

P, duncan O'MAHONY, Face=0x0, #7, 25, 56, 44, 31, 81, 75 ,[12]

The single quote character should not be present in a player's name. The game does not render it correctly.

That being said, it shouldn't totally hose up a ROM either.

I'll Fix TSBTool and do some more testing with bad input to try to ensure this never happens again.

would a period work?

K, duncan O.MAHONY

granted its not a single quote. This is how I was told to do that with roster names.

just give me a hit and I'll be fine.

Yes.

In fact for the data (for TSBSeasonGen) in NFL_DATA, every guy that would have a single quote in his name (like Ken O'Brien), has a . (period) instead.

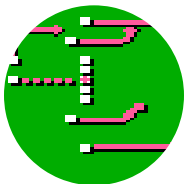

In the TSBTool I'm releasing tomorrow, I'm going to fix the defect with the single quote (actually an entire class of defects relating to illegal characters) so that it would show up as an error, and not be applied to the rom.

I fixed TSBTool (new version = 1.2.0.1).

Should eliminate all input related defects.

Is this just a sim hack or does it effect man vs. cpu gameplay as well?

I don't think anyone knows if it affects man vs. CPU play.
Could you investigate and report your findings?

The number does affect the computer during game play. I was able to trace that the computer did check their team's ratio at the playbook screen. How important the number is during this time is unknown to me however.

Good question. Some emulators have debuggers, FCEUXD SP for example. Maybe that'll let you watch it execute. Never tried it myself.

Ya that program has a debugger. You can start and stop debugging and then it will show you what bytes were read. There are much more sophisticated thing syou can do with it but I'm not very good with those.

I've only played a few games after changing the ratings, but against a pass heavy rated team – the cpu did seem to call a lot of passes. Obviously, that's not a scientific test but just my observation after a couple games.

Working on editing the '77 rom by Denny, Elway7 & Jstout and I am confused....for some reason it re-arranged the schedule and I don't know where exactly to change the run/pass ratio. Do I just add the 01, 02 or 03 at the end of the team sim info?

Wow, you psychic SBlueman? I was thinking of doing the same exact thing with all of our 70's edits as well.

Heh, cool. I love the 70's roms. I started with just fixing some of the player skin colors and it kinda took off from there. I have been tinkering with the sim code all weekend.

Sblueman,

It looks like you are using an older version of TSBTool.

Try downloading and using the latest version (TSBTool 1.2.0.2).

Thanks to Jstout.

At offset 27526 there is a 2 digit number for each team.

The teams are in order of AFC east, central, west. Then NFC east, central, west. BUF is the first team and ATL is the last team.

00 means rush first, pass second (think Bills)

01 means rush heavy (think Raiders)

Damn, wait a sec - does 00 correspond to 03, or does 01 correspond to 03? I was going under the assumption that it went HEAVY RUSH - RUSH LITE - PASS LITE - HEAVY PASS. That is, as you increase the number, you increase the passing. Did I reverse the rush code?

That's probably why anything you set at 01 and thought was some rushing seemed like insane rushing.
